

SHP Implementation Science Masterclass

2022 Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs)

1. Why have an EOI process?

- As the demand for education and training is high, we would like to ensure that people are committed to participating in the Masterclass.
- EOI's to join the Masterclass are invited from health care professionals, researchers, and postgraduate students, with first preference being given to applicants from SHP Partner organisations. For more information, please see: Partners » Sydney Health Partners
- Applicants should have demonstrated experience in the health system (e.g., qualifications and experience in nursing, allied health, quality improvement, health services management, medicine, health economics, public health, health policy, behavioural medicine etc.)

2. Why do I need to conduct my research within a Sydney Health Partners (SHP) member organisation?

- There is significant demand for Implementation Science education and training opportunities in Australia and there is limited capacity in the SHP Masterclass. The Masterclass aims to support and build capacity in Implementation Science while still ensuring a focus on the clinical priorities of our Partners. We want to ensure our Partners benefit from the capacity building activities we offer as part of the SHP Implementation Science program.

3. Why do I need to stipulate current or future plans for funding?

- A major priority for SHP is to provide support and services that encourage innovation. The Masterclass is an opportunity for researchers and health professionals to develop innovative concepts. We want to ensure the future success of these projects which is why a plan to apply for major grant applications is required. It ensures these innovative projects can continue to be developed and supported into the future.
